

LOST

Please Help!

Lost Bird: For the love of all things precious..... ...please try to help if you can. The most adorable, friendly cockatiel accidentally escaped in fright through a door and had never been outdoors - she did not what to do, and climbed into the stratosphere, out of sight. She was screeching in fright. She is the personal pet of a teenager, who has had a complete mental breakdown. She will become exhausted, and come down somewhere. Happened 20 mins ago. I know this is an impossible long shot..

Please contact me online:

<https://whiteboomerang.com/post/44201162780/>

